

BOXCAR ENGLISH EPISODE 001 - AN OLD FRIEND - TRANSCRIPT

Welcome to Boxcar English

Where there's always room for you

My name is Karl. It's good to see you.

Get on this train, let's ride...

This story is easy on the ears. It doesn't have many hard words in it. It'll make you think, and I think it's kind of funny too.

So, I got a text from my friend today. He wanted to share a video from Youtube with me. He's an old friend of mine. His name is George. We've known each other since our first day of school. We were five years old and didn't know anybody in class yet. We played together that first day, and I still remember what we played, after all these years. We were pretending to be on a boat that was under a shark attack. I'd say, "There's a shark coming, watch out!" and George would say, "I feel like going for a swim!" He'd pretend to jump in water, get down on the ground, then he'd scream and jump back up with his arms hidden inside his shirt. And just repeat that over and over with small changes here and there. We laughed so hard. It's amazing I can still remember how funny that was to me, as a five-year-old. I

We became best friends after that. We spent most of our time together. We really did go swimming together. We climbed trees, we played ball, we played in the rain, we watched TV... We ate lunch together at school, and on weekends, either I went to George's house or he came to mine, where his parents or my parents served us dinner. Usually pizza. And in the morning, we ate breakfast together. Usually cereal and milk. When we grew up we were still friends. But we didn't see each other as often. Maybe we'd see each other at Christmas, but mostly, we lived our own lives. It's probably been ten years since we've talked, until today, when he sends me this video. This Youtube video. It just showed up on my phone, from my old best friend George. I was really excited to see what it might be.

Well, I was confused when I saw it. It's a video of a cat and a dog sleeping together on a farm. It was really, really cute. The dog was a lot bigger than the cat. They were sleeping outside in the sun. Their eyes were closed and they seemed at peace. Though it was a very cute video, I was not sure why he sent it to me. It was a pretty normal "cute animal" video — there are millions of videos like it. I watched the video several times, trying to understand why he sent it. I watched it, I would say, about ten times. While I was watching it, I thought about all the things that we used to do together. We used to read books to each other. We went on long walks in the woods. We played games together. That didn't help. Then I thought about cats and dogs. Usually cats and dogs don't like each other. But these two clearly did. George and I, we didn't always agree on everything, but we never got in fights. We never seemed like two different animals. We were happy with one another just about all the time.

So, was George trying to say that he like a dog, and I was like a cat? I always had pet cats, but his family didn't have pets. So no dogs or cats for him. No birds or fish, or any other animals, either. So, I guess I think I was more like the cat and he was more like the dog. Maybe he has a lot of dogs now. Maybe his house is just full of dogs. But it wasn't very clear. It wasn't clear at all. I watched the video again. The dog was wearing clothes, it had a shirt on. But the cat was not wearing any clothes. What did that mean? No idea. I thought a long time about what I should say to him, and I wrote a message that I changed many times. Finally, I decided just to tell him that, though I liked the video, I didn't know why he sent it. My actual text was: “So cute! Why did you send me this?”

He texted me back, and his text said: “it reminded me of us, because the dog and cat are such good friends.”

“Is it really that simple?” I asked myself. No way. Can't be. So I texted him again. I wrote, “Haha, that's sweet. Do you think of me as the dog or the cat?” He texted right back: “You're the dog, Karl, and I'm the cat...” with a smiling face beside it. I still don't know why he thinks that. I mean, I don't mind being the dog, or the cat. And I think he's just trying to be nice. I just wish I knew why he thought that. I wish I knew what he was thinking. I just don't know what to say. What do you think I should I say?

Well, that's all for now, good buddies. Thanks for listening.

I'll see you again soon... on Boxcar English.

...where's always room for you.
